

INTRODUCTION SCRIPT — E-COMMERCE

For a video pitch or spoken self-intro — e-commerce VA, no experience, all outcome. ~50–65 seconds read aloud.

“I help e-commerce founders get their week back — running their Shopify, Amazon, and WordPress stores, without adding another hire to manage.”

[Open on camera, relaxed and direct — no apology in the tone]

Thank you for taking the time to consider me. Here's the truth up front: I'm new to virtual assistance. What I'm not new to is solving problems fast — and that's exactly what your store needs, whether you've hired for this before or not.

You already know the feeling. Answering the same order and refund emails. Updating inventory by hand. Doing the repetitive backend work that keeps the store running but never grows it. That time is the real cost — and that's the gap I close.

I'm known for my critical thinking and my ability to pick up new tools, platforms, and systems fast. So the learning curve you might be worried about? It won't cost you time. It'll save you time — because I adapt to how your store runs, not the other way around.

HERE'S WHAT THAT GETS YOU

- Nothing falls through the cracks — orders, refunds, and follow-ups get caught before they become problems.
- Your storefront becomes a system — inventory, customer replies, and reporting organized in a way you can actually rely on.
- You never explain things twice — I learn your process and your platform once, and run with it.
- Someone as invested as you are — because I don't measure my work in tasks completed. I measure it in your store growing.

[Close on camera, steady and confident — no hard sell]

I'm not here to just check boxes. I'm on a mission to give e-commerce founders like you your time back, so you can focus on the one thing only you can do — growing the business. If you're looking for a VA who's sharp, fast, and fully invested from day one, I'd love the chance to prove it.

INTRODUCTION SCRIPT — UNIVERSAL

For a video pitch or spoken self-intro — general VA roles, no experience, all outcome. ~45–60 seconds read aloud.

“I help busy founders get their week back — without adding another hire they have to manage.”

[Open on camera, relaxed and direct — no apology in the tone]

Thank you for taking the time to consider me. Here's the truth up front: I'm new to virtual assistance. What I'm not new to is solving problems fast — and that's exactly what your business needs, whether you've done this before or not.

You already know the feeling. Answering the same emails. Chasing your own calendar. Doing the repetitive work that keeps the business running but never grows it. That time is the real cost — and that's the gap I close.

I'm known for my critical thinking and my ability to pick up new tools, skills and systems fast. So the learning curve you might be worried about? It won't cost you time. It'll save you time — because I adapt to how you work, not the other way around.

HERE'S WHAT THAT GETS YOU

- Nothing falls through the cracks — deadlines, details, and follow-ups get caught before they become problems.
- Your chaos becomes a system — inbox, calendar, and data organized in a way you can actually rely on.
- You never explain things twice — I learn your process once and run with it.
- Someone as invested as you are — because I don't measure my work in tasks completed. I measure it in your business growing.

[Close on camera, steady and confident — no hard sell]

I'm not here to just check boxes. I'm on a mission to give founders like you your time back, so you can focus on the one thing only you can do — growing the business. If you're looking for a VA who's sharp, fast, and fully invested from day one, I'd love the chance to prove it.

KHENT BENEDICT L. BALULOT

E-Commerce Virtual Assistant • WordPress Web Developer

Bacolod City, Philippines | +63-915-751-2397 | khentdoit@gmail.com

linkedin.com/in/khent-balulot | khentdoit.github.io/khentdoit.Portfolio.io

“I help e-commerce founders reclaim their time by running flawless store operations — without needing to hire full-time.”

MOTIVATIONAL LETTER

To the Hiring Team,

Most VA applications lead with a list of tasks. I'd rather lead with the outcome: your store keeps running smoothly, your inbox stays caught up, and the small operational fires never reach you — because I've already put them out.

I'm known for my critical thinking and adaptability — for turning new tools into fast, reliable results, and raw information into action within days, not weeks. That's not a slogan; it's backed by a national scholarship placing me in the top 6.56% of applicants, and by a track record of picking up new platforms fast enough that clients stop noticing the learning curve.

WHAT THAT LOOKS LIKE DAY TO DAY

- Store operations that don't need babysitting — Shopify, WooCommerce, and Amazon Seller Central handled end-to-end: orders, inventory, refunds, and listings.
- Customer replies that protect your reputation — de-escalation, refund handling, and templated responses through Zendesk or Gorgias, so reviews stay high even on hard days.
- A technical edge most VAs don't bring — a Computer Engineering background means I troubleshoot backend issues, APIs, and site setups myself instead of escalating them.
- Documentation that outlives me — SOPs, trackers, and reporting built so your operations never depend on any one person's memory, including mine.
- Creative capacity on tap — Canva graphics, CapCut edits, and 3D product visuals when a project needs more than admin support.

I'm on a mission to help lean e-commerce teams run like well-oiled machines, so founders spend their time on growth instead of busywork. If that's the kind of support you're building toward, I'd welcome a short conversation.

Warm regards,

Khent Benedict L. Balulot

E-Commerce Virtual Assistant | WordPress Web Developer

COLD EMAIL / OUTREACH TEMPLATE

Built to read as a real note from a real person — short, specific, and easy for a spam filter or an AI screener to parse cleanly.

Subject: Quick question about your store's day-to-day ops

Hi [Name],

I help e-commerce founders reclaim their time by running flawless store operations — without needing to hire full-time.

I'm Khent, a Virtual Assistant focused on Shopify, WooCommerce, and Amazon store management, customer support, and reporting — with a Computer Engineering background that lets me solve backend and technical issues most VAs have to hand off.

A few ways I could help [Company Name] right away:

- Keep orders, refunds, and inventory moving smoothly, even on your busiest days
- Handle customer replies with fast, professional templates that protect your reviews
- Build clean, ready-to-use trackers and SOPs, so nothing depends on memory

I've put together sample projects — a demo Shopify store, an inventory tracker, and support reply templates — to show exactly how I work rather than just tell you. Link's below.

Would you be open to a quick 15-minute chat this week to see if it's a fit?

Warm regards,

Khent Benedict L. Balulot

E-Commerce Virtual Assistant / WordPress Web Developer

+63-915-751-2397 | khentdoit@gmail.com

linkedin.com/in/khent-balulot

Deliverability notes: plain-text friendly, no spam-trigger words ("free," "guaranteed," excess exclamation points), one link only, real contact details — all of which help it clear spam filters and read as legitimate to an ATS/AI screener.

PORTFOLIO

See the work behind the claims

Portfolio Link: khentdoit.github.io/khentdoit.Portfolio.io

[Paste portfolio screenshot / sneak peek here]

(Recommended: one clean screenshot of the Shopify sample store or a before/after listing)